

Leadership Wood Buffalo Indigenous Scholarship Nomination or Self Application

We invite you to self-apply or nominate an individual whose natural gifts inspire you and you believe should be shared with existing and emerging leaders within the region. If submitting a written nomination is deemed a barrier, we kindly welcome a meaningful conversation in its place. Please note, Leadership Wood Buffalo will be honoring priority to an Indigenous person with ancestral land connection in Wood Buffalo.

Please review the following carefully:

If you are nominating an individual, after reviewing your nomination, FuseSocial will attempt to make contact with the nominee to ensure their interest in participating in the Leadership Wood Buffalo Program. Should we not hear from the nominee by June 30th or the nominee decides to decline their nomination, this nomination will not be reviewed by the selections circle.

If you are self-applying, FuseSocial will review your application and it will be reviewed by the selections circle.

A Selections Circle made up of Indigenous Volunteer Community Members will review all nominations/applications in confidence. The Leadership Coordinator will reach out to schedule a conversation with nominees and applicants. Individuals will be notified by second week of August if they have been chosen for the scholarship to Leadership Wood Buffalo. If chosen, the nominee will be asked to sign supporting documents upon acceptance.

All nominations/applications should be e-mailed directly to leadershipwb@fusesocial.ca by June 18th.
